Merry Christmas & Happy New Year

AT THE TIME OF WRITING THIS LETTER, WHAT'S GOING TO HAPPEN AT CHRISTMAS IS STILL UP IN THE AIR. HOPEFULLY BY DECEMBER 12TH RESTRICTIONS WILL BE LIFTED, SO THAT WE CAN ENJOY CHRISTMAS WITH OUR FAMILIES.

IF NOT, WE WILL HAVE TO MAKE THE BEST OF IT AND USE FACETIME, SKYPE, AND ZOOM TO GET TOGETHER WITH THEM. FOR THOSE OF YOU THAT HAVE GRANDCHILDREN, IT IS SO MUCH FUN WATCHING THEM OPEN GIFTS, I WOULD HATE TO MISS IT. BUT WHATEVER HAPPENS WE HAVE TO MAKE THE BEST OF IT.

WITH ALL THIS GOING ON, AND THIS PANDEMIC MAKING LANPRO STRUGGLE, IT MAKES YOU THINK BACK OVER ALL THE 31 YEARS THAT LANPRO HAS BEEN IN BUSINESS.

WHICH MADE ME THINK OF JOHN, MY VERY FIRST EMPLOYEE, WHO WAS WITH ME FOR 25 YEARS UNTIL HIS UNTIMELY DEATH. HE WAS A HUGE PART OF WHERE LANPRO IS TODAY.

In Memory of John Moed - Licensed Technician August 30, 1953 - November 7, 2014

John was a large part in making Lanpro what it is today. John worked at Lanpro for 25 years, from the day we opened in October, 1989 till his passing 6 years ago this past November. He worked at all facets of auto repair, from oil changes to fuel injection diagnostics. He was constantly upgrading & attended various training courses.

John married his wife Dianne in 1972 & has 4 children & 7 grandchildren.

Though you are no longer here, you are not forgotten.

The Automotive Industries Association of Canada Announces Support of the Your Car. Your Data. Your Choice.™ Campaign

Global support backing car data ownership for consumers grows with addition of Canadian automotive aftermarket association.

The Automotive Industries Association (AIA) of Canada today announced its support for the Your Car. Your Data. Your Choice.™ campaign, adding to the already growing movement focused on ensuring consumer access and control over car data.

Your Car. Your Data. Your Choice.™ is an Auto Care Association and Automotive Aftermarket Suppliers Association (AASA) education initiative that engages car owners, policymakers, and other stakeholders on issues related to car data, including what it is, why it matters, and its implications for consumer choice. Without control of and direct access to the wireless diagnostic and repair information generated by telematics and wirelessly transmitted from cars, consumers could face greater inconvenience, increased costs and fewer options for repair and maintenance services.

"The expansion of this campaign into Canada demonstrates the increasing support and urgency amongst the independent auto care industry to combat restricted car data access and control," said Bill Hanvey, president, and CEO of Auto Care Association. "We're thrilled to welcome our friends from AIA Canada into this growing operation and stand by their efforts to ensure Canada's car owners have the right to choose who repairs their car."

"AIA Canada is proud to join the Auto Care Association and Automotive Aftermarket Suppliers Association (AASA) in this vital campaign, which we hope will connect with drivers across Canada," said Jean-François Champagne, president of AIA Canada. "This is an issue that has significant implications for the aftermarket industry worldwide, and we are excited to join the fight for both our industry's livelihood and greater consumer choice."

The support of AIA Canada will help increase awareness of the issues surrounding car access data and control in Canada. Educational materials hosted on the AIA Canada campaign website will help to raise awareness among industry and consumers about control of, and access to, vehicle data. The campaign will also encourage industry and consumers to take action by signing a petition that asks the Government of Canada to give consumers control of their vehicle data.

"Our campaign has engaged so many people because a vast majority of car owners agree they should have control of their car data to ensure choice on where and with what parts their vehicles are repaired and maintained," said Paul McCarthy, president of AASA. "We welcome Canadian drivers joining the groundswell on this issue, which reflects the importance and global nature of this need to protect consumer choice and a competitive market for vehicle service."

AIA Canada joins the already successful Your Car. Your Data. Your Choice.™ campaign in the United States, which has secured nearly 30,000 signatures for its petition demanding the United States Congress ensures drivers have a right to directly access and control their car data. Last spring, Bill Hanvey authored an op-ed published in The New York Times that helped draw attention to the significant issues surrounding data collection and ownership in modern cars. And just this month, on November 3, 2020 – Election Day in the United States proved to be a moment of victory for the auto care industry. Massachusetts voters overwhelmingly voiced their support at the ballot box for Ballot Question 1, which will preserve their right as vehicle owners to have access to and control of their vehicle's mechanical data necessary for service and repair at the shops of their choice.
